

Small Business Selling and Security Forum

Raleigh, NC - Wednesday, December 11, 2013

Face-to-Face Meetings with Private Sector Corporate Participants Including: Symantec, Bank of America, Lockheed Martin, BMC Software, HP, North Carolina Military Business Center and many others.
Face-to-Face Meetings with Government Agency Participants Including: Federal Departments, State, County and City offices.

"Area small businesses will have a remarkable opportunity to meet those who buy products and services for government agencies and major corporations and learn from the law enforcement experts how to avoid becoming a victim of Cybercrime...Don't miss this!"
— Former Administrator, U.S. Small Business Administration

Start-ups, growing companies, and those already selling successfully will all benefit from this event. There will be procurement presentations by federal, state and local agencies, as well as Symantec, Dun and Bradstreet Credibility Corp, HP, Bank of America and other corporations.

- Government agencies and major corporations need every type of product and service.
- Cyber Crime is invading small business and you can protect your assets.
- There is new access to affordable capital.
- Women, minority and veteran owned firms have more opportunities than ever before.

None of us have time to waste. One day with these experts and your own networking can change the life of your business. These free events have resulted in over $9 billion in contracts granted to small businesses like yours.
