Seeking Applications for Grants-In-Aid

The N.C. License to Give Trust Fund Commission is seeking applications. Approximately $300,000 will be awarded annually. Letters of Intent may be submitted at anytime. Details will be found at www.doa.nc.gov/lgtgfc.

Organ & Tissue Donation

The purpose of the education and awareness activities on organ and tissue donation is to increase and/or improve organ, tissue and eye donation rates in North Carolina.

More than 2,900 North Carolinians are waiting for a life saving organ transplant and thousands more are in need of tissue transplants.

Sadly, several hundred North Carolinians on the organ transplant waiting list die each year. There is no shortage of potential donors, however there is a shortage of those who donate organs. It is so simple: The more donors there are, the more lives will be saved.

Below is a North Carolina drivers license with a consent to donate heart. This is the ultimate License to Give!

Advance Care Planning

The purpose of education and awareness on advance care planning is to encourage thoughtful end-of-life decisions including organ, eye and tissue donation as a significant consideration in the process of advance care planning.

“Isn’t it time we talk?”

By engaging in the process of advance care planning, North Carolinians gain a better understanding of their options for end-of-life healthcare, make informed decisions about their preferences, communicate those preferences to their loved ones and to their healthcare providers through advance directives, and help insure that their wishes for care near the end of life are respected.

In this way, advance care planning can make an important contribution to improving end-of-life health care in North Carolina.

“With creative programs and initiatives, we can make a difference for North Carolinians.”
