Support Black Farmers and Local Communities

The Black Farmers' Market returns this month on Sundays in Durham and also in Raleigh, NC. Their mission is to inspire a self-sufficient community that supports and protects minority farmers and entrepreneurs.

BLACK FARMERS' MARKET

There are over 3 million local farmers in America—of those less than 2% are Black. Shopping at the Black Farmers' Market allows you to not only keep dollars circulating in local communities, but it gives you the opportunity to support Black farmers and reshape our agricultural systems, by protecting and supporting them. Learn more, meet the vendors, and plan to attend here. Many HUB vendors are participating this year!
