The US Small Business Association (SBA) Shares Keys for Hurricane Preparedness

With hurricane season officially upon us, it is more important than ever for residents and small businesses to remember that the best course of action to limit damage from natural disasters is preparing before the disaster hits. Our partner agency, the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), continues to support impacted communities through disaster assistance, mitigation, and business preparedness efforts.

Preparation is key. By giving small businesses, homeowners, renters, and others insightful tips for hurricane preparedness, we can help reduce the impacts of future disasters. Provided below are a few tips for how you can get ready for this year's hurricane season.

- Establish a communications plan and subscribe to local emergency management alerts.
- Protect vital information in the cloud.
- Review insurance coverage, consider business interruption insurance, and take a video inventory of property and assets.
- Complete facilities and operations planning; consider e-commerce solutions or temporary alternative locations to resume operations quickly and evaluate supply chains.
- Engage in pre-disaster contract development opportunities.
- Practice and test your plan with managers and staff.
